Caroline Owens

Taylor Heisley-Cook,
David Mun, & Celine Mol

Attended the Sharing Science Initiative at the American Geophysical Union Fall Meeting in Washington, DC

"I learned how to build credibility online, give effective interviews and communicate clearly with journalists, and develop strong community science and outreach programs...connecting with experienced policy advocates as well as other students from around the nation."

Attended the 2018 Textile Sustainability Conference in Milan, Italy

"Brands expressed interest in our product; we made many valuable connections in sourcing and innovation departments that will help us as we launch...We hope to have a prototype within the month! None of this would have been possible without the IPS grant."
